Wee Little Winter Run

What better to do on a late January evening when the temperature is soaring well above zero than to sit around a fire and drink a well aged scotch. Oh wait, it's Thursday and it's Wee's run. The guilt is too much, what if no one shows up, I guess I better go and support the ole boy. I was not the only one with guilt, I think 26 fellow hashers showed up. Since I took a well-deserved holiday in the sun, my legs no longer blended with the bright white snow and Wee took notice right away picking me for the scribe. There is a lot of pressure in scribing, the quality of the scribes are only getting better in the Hash.

Helping Wee Little Bladder out with the running duties tonight was Whore Sleigher. After our RA Chips' A Whore strutted his stuff, introductions took place and then Wee got right down to explaining the run. Everyone was clear except Whore Sleigher so I knew the runners were in trouble. Right off the bat they all hit the wrong trail but were soon directed in the right way. I can still hear Wee laughing, “the runners have to run down the creek. It was frozen yesterday, hope it's not flowing tonight. Oh well f@%$k em.”

Don't worry runners, Wee is tough on us walkers too. You need to understand, us walker are the ones with the bad knees, hips, sore backs, heart issues, and mental issues. Did I say mental issues? Right off the bat we are walking up a hill with a 45 degree incline for about 500 meters.

I lead the way but you have hand it to our walking hare, who is dealing with all of the above, was right behind me. Walkers aren't use to hearing, “what does a X mean”. Great call Wee. Even if you were called names I can't include the walkers need more of what you dish out. For some reason Driving Miss Dazey and Aneeda Dick didn't walk up the hill, Miss Dazey had a Bandaid on her knee or something.

We didn't get to see much of the runners but every once in a while you could hear a cry for help. There were some slips and falls and Mobeys voice carries well in the winter air. Once us walkers got back down that false trail we headed up the old chair lift hill (actually it was a T-bar). Not many of you would of known that. Just us old timers, G-Spot and myself included. There you just learned something. Now hashing has become educational. Your parents will now approve.

Once at the top of the hill we all knew where we were headed. The Michener lookout was the obvious Hash Hold location.

As we made our way, Dripping Wet Gap runs right by us, all alone with no other runners in sight. Now is she lost, maybe just smarter than the other runners, or took a short cut so she could be first in line for those Welsh cakes. Preemie also joined us at the Hash Hold but he is not one to turn down a free beer and a Welsh treat. Now all beer'd up, the only obvious thing to do is to Crazy Carpet down the hill into oncoming traffic. I was very impressed with some of the skills witnessed on a few of the jumps. Probably by accident but I would have to give out a couple of 8's. In the end we all made it down safely.

The circle up brought many punishment tonight but the most memorable were the birthdays, Pole-Her Express, Driving Miss Dazey, and Rebecca. I thought we handled the song well with strange children present. What they were doing out after dark I don't know. It was now off to the On On. Now most drove right to the On On like you are supposed to but Wee Little Bladder had to turn around because Miss Dazey forgot her car. It was usually the dog that they forgot but it has now grown into something a lot larger now. All we can do is give her our support.

Wee and Whore Sleigher, nice run.
