Hare: Crash Test Rummy & I’m Cumming

Location: Kerry Wood Nature Center

Prelube: Mr Mikes

On On: Murph’s Pub

Scribe: Dirty Pole

Let’s just say that it was like a bunch of kindergarten kids trying to figure out right and left. Once we all figured out how to put our snow shoes on, our extremely smart RA called us into a circle or a shape that resembled a light bulb.

There was an excellent turnout even without virgins. After many times of haring runs Crash finally understands how to mark a trail. The group entered Kerry Wood with no fear of an animal encounter – how do the animals get through the fence?

Following the red glow of our Hare we found many a false trail – it was an indecisive bastard this week. Those who chose to “lie down”, “test out the snow”, “thrown down” or what us normal folk call FALLING, I hope you weren’t too cold.

It was a short quick jaunt back to the parking lot/hash hole where we enjoyed laughing at those who fell and some delicious chai tea and trail mix made by Crash’s better half I’m Cumming and of course the beer.

During circle up many people were punished for falling. Chips got a little eager and wanted to issue a punishment to me for being late for my scribe and took the punishment for being premature, as usual.
