Hares : Live Hare Run Sir Mobey of Dickus

Location: BMX Bike Park, off Kerrywood Dr

Prelude: Mr. Mikes

On On: Murphs

Scribe: Pleasure Chest

It's been quite a while since the last Live Hare run so everybody was pretty excited. Pucker Sucker had that hunter look in her eyes. Would she manage to catch the live hare mid-run again? With Deep Throat and Cheap & Easy showing up late, I thought for sure one of them would be scribing, but no. Sir Mobeys had devised an evil plan for assigning scribe duties and I was to be the victim. I don't know how the hell I managed to pick the short straw out of the 22 Chips still had in his hand but here I am. Weird shit happens when you go hashing and that was just the beginning.

No virgins or visitors this time but the circle saw Doggy Style inherit The Shit for the first time ever. He was very careful not to touch the wooden dick attached to it and kept a firm grip on the other shaft instead. Deep Throat was outfitted with some not so sexy panties & suspenders. She doesn't show up very often so the RA had to make sure she would be remembered. Announcements were made in an effort to give the hare some extra time but we're all assholes so we didn't wait very long.

We were off to a great start and lost Booty Call at the first check. Good thing the walkers guided her in the right direction as none of us had marked the check. Told you we're assholes. Without a hare to sweep the back of the pack, it's no wonder that Slippery When Wet was a bit concerned about being left behind but everything went just fine.

We toured around Bower Ponds, up into Oriole Park, across Taylor on the pedestrian bridge and back down to Riverside Meadows with Drippy, Pucker & Curb Crawler in the lead most of the way. We came across this large field and somehow Booty Call managed to find a set of keys in the grass. Not on a trail, in the grass! Turned out they were Sir Mobeys' keys he had just lost while setting trail. What a fluke!

We eventually found the HH, graciously sponsored by Preemie this week, and a very happy and grateful hare was reunited with his keys. I tried digging out some dirt on the walkers but Cum See My Box said she didn't want to squeal on anyone and that I should ask Mustang Sally for some juicy stories. Out under the street lamp, G-Spot's fingers were seen flying off her phone's screen as she gave Wee Little Bladder a lesson on Pokemon Gyms. I don't about you but the way she was moving those fingers... looked like something very different to me.

Sir Cums A Lot was waiting for us with the Swill when we got back. A bleeding ingrown toenail prevented him from wearing shoes so no running or even walking for him tonight. The circle saw a slew of punishments and rewards. Mobeys got his first one for volunteering to hare this run and setting an awesome trail. His second one was for sacrificing his beloved Camp U shirt to help stop the blood gushing out of my head a few weeks back. Deep got the bedpan in exchange for her panties and then got punished along with Cheap & Easy because neither of them can remember to use people's hash names. The Pokemoners got punished as well and Doggy had his first taste of The Shit. A great night enjoyed by all. Thanks again to Sir Mobeys and Premie for stepping up and giving us such a fun run.
