– Learning about pills

A great night for a run. A great group of hashers out and must say a great run.

I learned a lot on this run and here is why

Crash Test Rummy – Crash missed circle up. I am not sure if it was on purpose because I was acting RA tonight or if he is tardy. I never saw him once on this treacherous run but he survived and made it to the end of the run with little to no blood visible, although it was dark. Crash learned a lot tonight in the game of connect four. Life lessons of human manipulation and forcing players hands to smack themselves. Give it time young grasshopper. 😊

Curb Crawler – Listening to the discussions at prelube Curb lets us know he has a sore back and for “runs with hills need to take more blue pills”. I am not sure if Curb is buying some aftermarket Acetaminophen but when I Google searched blue pills it was not the first item to appear. He may have taken Viagra by mistake. He ran well in fact too well passing me many times on the long, hard, never ending, upward sloped hills. Whatever floats your boat buddy apparently it kept you going all night long.

Broken Boner – Also suffering from a sore back decided to run anyways. You would think a good friend like Curb would give a guy a heads up about the blue pill. Broken was caught talking at the hash hold about a chemist mix of Viagra and Robax-acet to get the best of both a muscle relaxant and a not so muscle relaxant. The things we have to look forward to in our old age is frightening.

Chips A Whore – Was honoured to be asked to fill in for our missing Illustrious RA Cum Honor tonight who was out on a recusing some small children on some other planet. A great circle of hashers tonight made this job simple yet rewarding

Amanda – Remember Amanda who came out last week, well she wasn't out this week. Oh wait she was but went to the original start point of the SPCA on the website and missed the update. Apparently the run she did herself there is up for Run of the Year but as a newbie she forgot to bring a change of shoes. tsk tsk

Whore Sleigher – Showed up first and cracked a beer a true hasher. Always out with a smile and having a great time.

Sir Mobeys – Was whining a little at the start of the run if he should or shouldn't wear a jacket. I remember a time when people were considered pussies when Boner and him would wear shorts in the winter. Maybe becoming a little soft and could use some blue pills? Curb hook him up.

Humidittities – The birthday girl arrived at prelube beaming proud as a peacock and rightfully so. I remember my 29th birthday well. So young and naïve. Glad you were able to spend your special day with us and Hubby Ken (ashhole??) showed up at ONON!!

Don't Know Dick – at end of the run wanted to know what the quickest way to the hash hold was. I told her to go the opposite way than the hardest way and like a champ she found it. Also rewarded in circle for being able to decipher when I asked for the circle to move a little and she jumped forward 12 feet. She knew what i meant. I need more people like that in my life.

Slippery When Wet – Slippery did nothing of note on this run.

Oh wait

Wine, run, Whine, wine.

I think she may have been responsible for separating the girl's form the boys at the Hash Hold like a junior High Dance.

Dripping Wet Gap – set what she thought was a short and sweet run, just like her. Meanwhile nobody can feel his or her legs anymore from the endless hills and snake turns everywhere. Running on damp leaves with mud underneath proved both exciting and deadly yet produced zero casualties. A great run I must say and a great Hash Hold at dusk overlooking the BMX Park. Clap clap clap!!!

Pole her Express– One of two things happened, she either took another kind of Pill to make her extremely happy or her gas tank was full. Spent her whole time during circle up giggling and laughing like a schoolgirl. Was great to see you were having such a great time!

Cum Liquor Snatch – Was the only person to walk with the walking hare. I asked how the walk went and was told her and Deep were alone a lot and got a lot of pictures and a lot that could not be posted on the Facebook. Of note they were very late to the hash hold and they travelled a much shorter distance than us runners.

Deep Throat – Co hare for the walkers. Almost no walkers showed up on this hash night are we becoming a running group?. Took 800 pictures of a great evening out which is great for us to remember the run. Supposedly 180 of those are private and only being shared with Cum Liquor Snatch. The hares parked their vehicle in sight down the street from initial circle and tried to trick us. We are not that smart and it worked.

Pucker Sucker- I have noticed the last few runs Pucker has been running more competitively (frowned upon) and trying to always be at the front (frowned upon). Us runners talked and decided we would let her do this for the time being as she has not been short cutting as much so we consider it a reward. Now if she would just get better at finding the false trails we would be going somewhere.

Each person who showed tonight taught me a lot not only about them but about myself. I hang out with a pretty diverse group all of which enhance who I am as not only a hasher but as a person. Thank you for your humour, advice, guidance and your friendship. If I missed you on this list then you taught me nothing so please try harder. Just kidding Love you all!!!
