Hare: Whore Slayer

Start: Old Co op downtown

On On: Murph's

Scribe: Lady Ms Dazey

Interesting fact, March 10th is the 69th day of the year! And everyone knows that 69 is the symbol of the Yin and Yang, which symbolizes something spiritual I think, not really sure, I missed that Sunday school class.

On On

Whore Slayer

Obviously we know what was on the mind of our hare Whore Slayer.

As the walking co-hare, I was given a map to lead the walking pack (small though it was) astray. At the circle up instructions were shown with some interesting new check marks, and off we went following an arrow (they never lie!) Turning the map over and over I realized the trail was laid in the figure of 69.

Cleats were the dress code of the day as the pack slipped and slid to find trail. The running pack passed the walkers again and again, going the opposite way, around and around until we finally met up on a bridge with the runners checking for trail in all directions.

WLB to the rescue, as he found the DHD (Down Here Dummies) check below the bridge on the frozen creek. We pondered the mystery of how it got there, as no visible footprints could be seen. On-On was called, and the runners followed the hare down the bank and onto the ice. TNT tried it but preferred solid snow and kept to the bank. Myself, not wanting to risk injury to our very own Mr 69 and being a good hare, I led DKD & Wee through the icy trails with the echo of Wankers by the hare, (a little upset with me for not taking the Walkers/Wankers on the ice), becoming more distant as they disappeared into the creek bed, we followed the map, and finally the FRB's caught up. We regrouped around a very big circle up sign, and in the midst of the arrival of worshippers at the local Church, we did try to recruit new hashers, but with no cleats they weren't dressed for the part. The runners checked for markings, and finally trail was located in the depths of Waskasoo, and the runners took off. Following our very own 69 map the walkers (wankers) were FRB's for a short while only to be overtaken by Boner and Curb who a little way down the trail were stopped by the BFF (Beer Fucking Far) check! WTF was mentioned a few times while Crash, Slippery and TNT disappeared down an animal trail into the woods. Curb and Boner finally called "On-On" at the creek bed. This time TNT braved the ice as the pack made their way back along the creek to the nearest bridge and again, a huge check.

Finally, trail was found after much consternation that they had checked this way and that before (now we know why the hare was carrying a bottle of pink flour on the run), but truthfully it lead us to the Hash Hold. A local parishioner had parked over the HHH sign but we all dutifully followed our hare to his car which was loaded with goodies, including a 2019 Beer calendar! Crash had a job getting it out but finally ripped open the package. There were tails of pickle ball, whales, fishing, vacations, boats, summer music festivals and a general happy anticipation of sunnier times and daylight non hazardous hash runs.

The 2019 Beer calendar contained some great beer and with the risk of freezing, we all headed back to the circle up where punishments were handed out. Wee for being Wee; hares for doing an amazing job; Crash, Slippery, Curb, TNT, and DKD just for being there, and due to the freezing conditions, some hashers actually refused punishment drinks!!! Now that should have been a punishment in itself!!

A great run and there was more fun to be had at the On On at Murph's!
